

ARMY SONGS

HAPPY ALL THE TIME
Tunes.—I feel like singing, 39; Song Book, 321.

I feel like singing all the time,
My tears are wiped away,
For Jesus is a Friend of mine;
I'll serve Him every day.

When fierce temptations try my heart,
I'll sing, "Jesus is mine!"
And so, though tears at times may start,
I'm singing all the time.

The angels sing a glorious song,
But not a song like mine;
For I am washed in Jesus' Blood,
And singing all the time.

FORWARD!
Tunes.—Victory for me, 284; Song Book, 555.
To the front! the cry is ringing,
To the front! your place is there,
In the conflict men art wanted,
Men of hope and faith and power;
Selfish ends shall claim no right.
From the battle's post to take us,
Fear shall vanish in the fight,
For triumphant God will make us.

Chorus
No retreating, hell defeating,
To the front! no more delaying,
Wounded spirits need thy care,
To the front! thy Lord obeying,
Stoop to help the dying here;
Broken hearts and blighted hopes,
Slaves of sin and degradation,
Wait for thee, in love to bring
Holy peace and liberation.

GOD IS LOVE
Tune.—Depth of mercy, R.M. 22.
Depth of mercy can there be
Mercy still reserved for me?
Can my God His wrath forbear,
Me, the chief of sinners, spare?

Chorus
God is love, I know, I feel.
I have long withstood His grace,
Long provoked Him to His face;
Would not hearken to His calls,
Grieved Him by a thousand falls.

There for me the Saviour stands,
Shows His wounds and spreads His hands;
God is love! I know, I feel;
Jesus weeps and loves me still.

ROOM AT THE CROSS.

Tune.—At the Cross, 209.
Sinner, whereso'er thou art,
All the cross there's room;
Tell the burden of thy heart,
At the Cross there's room!
Cast away thy ever fear,
Tell it in thy Saviour's ear,
Only speak, and He will hear;
At the Cross there's room.

Thoughtless sinner, come to-day,
Hark! the Bride and Spirit say,
Now a living fountain, etc.,
Opened there for thee and me,
Rich and poor, for bond and free.

DRAW ME NEARER
I am Thine, O Lord, I have heard Thy voice,

And I told Thy love to me;
But I long to rise in the arms of faith,
And be closer drawn to Thee.

Chorus
Draw me nearer.

Concentrate me now to Thy secret Lord.

By the power of grace divine!
Let my soul be washed from its every stain,
And my will be lost Thine.

MAKE ME PURE

Blessed Lamb of Calvary,
Let Thy Spirit fall on me;
Let the cleansing, healing flow,
Wash and keep me white as snow.
That henceforth my life may be
Bright and beautiful for Thee.

Teach me how to fight and win,
Perfect victory over sin;
Give a compassion deep,
That will for lost sinners weep,
That henceforth my life may prove
That I serve Thee out of love.

ORIGINAL SOLO
Tune.—When it's apple blossom,
Time in Normandy.

On the Hill of Calvary,
There was placed the cruel tree,
Where Jesus died, was crucified,
To purchase a pardon free;
There was paid the wondrous price,
There was made the sacrifice.
Sinners believing, pardon receiving,
Find the love which makes them whole.

Chorus
When the love of Jesus enters in our hearts,
All sin departs, and Heaven starts;
Earthly joys and pleasures fade and pass away,
And the sins which once so easily beset.

No longer fret, the soul;
For the love of Jesus in the heart
Makes and keeps fully whole.

By the Throne at God's right hand;
With Him one day we shall stand;
Praise we'll sing to Christ our King.

Along with the Angel Band;

Will you now for Heaven start,
Will you from your sins now part?
Come now believing, pardon receiving.

Find the love which makes us whole.

—Captain A. M. Leader.

NEBUCHADNEZZAR'S BAND.

A writer in the "Daily News" (London, England) says: "I observe that the author of 'Military Bands,' in alluding to Nebuchadnezzar's band, has omitted, or omitted to notice, that it was largely 'orchestral' in its instrumentation. There is no doubt that this band was a big thing in its way, but I am not sure that it could out-class the bands of the Ptolemies in the great days of Egypt."

"There is an account of a great feast to Bacchus, celebrated by Cleopatra, fancied himself as a flute player. Indeed, he established musical competitions in his palace, and 'depicted the scenes of the greatest magnificence of the age.' Of course, he always won in these competitions, as no one was likely to be so indiscreet as to give an award against a Ptolemy in his own house."

In stead of being so timid and slow
Go out! David would never have slain Goliath. If he stopped in, He had to go out and do something!

Seeking God is natural to man.
The soul needs Him—cannot be happy without Him. This is why it is so important to seek Him.

THE MOTHERS OF SALEM

By Commander Miss Booth

EVER since the day my baby tones first mingled with the gentle voice of my precious mother in that immortal song of childhood, "When Mothers of Salem Their Children Brought to Jesus," the scene to which it refers has been to me one of the most realistic in the life of Christ. I have hesitated from attempting to write, speak upon the profound thoughts in our Saviour's life, because I have not one soul would consider I was invading a realm in which I must as a stranger. However, as I remember that all I have, and am I owe to the unwearying and tender efforts of my own wonderful mother to bring me in my earliest years into touch with the Great Shepherd of the children, I feel I ought to commit to paper this simple offering to the poor parents who much better a blessing to some dear mothers who must realize that their first and highest obligation to their children is to bring them to God.

I would like to say, first, that I notice these Salem mothers brought their children to Jesus themselves. It was a personal act on their part. They did not, as is so often the case with modern mothers, delegate this important duty to others, but rather made it their duty to pass on whatever qualifications they may possess, can never be fitted for such a divine task as is motherhood. Alas, few young children can remember their mother as the one to guide their baby feet in the presence of Jesus! They do not connect mother with God and Heaven. Sad to say, she is not associated in their minds with the Church, with the Sabbath School, with the Bible reading, or saddest of all, with prayer. For all these the children must look to Christian leaders, altogether away from mother's side, and mother, and mother's voice. In whose home we would wish most of all their characters should cast?

Then I see that these Salem mothers brought their children to Jesus through difficulty, and extreme difficulty, for rebuke came just where encouragement and help should have been given—the disciples rebuked them. What an anomaly! Yet this is quite often what happens to-day.

Infant Wealth

It is not here that many mothers fail? There is the definite effort to bring the children into contact with Christ. Time and money, and strength are spent on all other branches of education, but personal responsibility in the matter of getting the little ones to know Jesus as their Saviour.

Protecting Friend

It is neglected until the tender, plastic years have slipped by. Surely it should be the supreme purpose of a mother, as soon as her arms enfold the precious babe, to lift that little one to Christ!

Again, it is significant that these Salem mothers brought their children with them, who tell the story "of infants," "little," and "young," so they must have been very small. This should encourage every mother to begin early. You cannot begin too soon. My own dear mother used to say, "Be before-hand with the devil!"—that is, do not wait till Satan has opportunity to sow all sorts of evil seeds in the little heart; but rather, as adoption day approaches, exclude him, by saving good seed in the first harvest reaped from that young soul one that shall be a joy to your own heart and an honour to Christ!

We all know that the years of infancy and childhood are the most impressionable.

As Clay in the Hands of the Potter

so the precious children are when in the hands of mother, and it were an infinite pity to allow such a formative period of life without instructions, strong and enduring, being given to him. In whose home we would wish most of all their characters should cast?

Should We Marry Christ

It is to the very people who are excellent in their attitude toward the children. The weight of years and the burden of life have destroyed the spirit of sympathy with the happy freedom of childhood, and some folk who hear His name, I am bound to admit, are not always known by the same sweetness of disposition toward the young as toward adults. He graciously reversed. There is nothing about Jesus and the precious freedom of approach. Him in a natural manner.

This thy child feels perfectly free to play ball, and the smallest babe is not afraid to go into His arms, although a Stranger.

O blessed children and blessed mothers! Perfectly at home in the presence of Jesus! The only severity or harshness that was met with was in the discipline and this was exacted when He saw my sins. He always sees and assumes that He sympathized with you when disappointed, and discouraging things happened to much-displeased the Lord, and He immediately vetoed contract and freed the money to

on the job. If you will tend it to me, I will pay you twenty per cent. interest and give you half the profits."

He did not want to be unjust by the man, as he explained, "so I agreed to let 'em have three hundred and twenty pounds at ten per cent. and half the profits, and so I did. That's his receipt." Bob then worked for the man as foreman, until the job was practically completed, when the contractor turned a cold shoulder him.

In his dilemma the poor man had to pray for guidance.

"Bob," he said to me, "I was too busy to see you, and I had to leave

you to the right man."

And he came that morning to the Social Gazette's Office, and posted out his bill of woes.

As the Poor Man's Lawyer saw it,

the case looked really hopeless.

The paper was not

legal to have admitted to the court,

the stamp in error was enough, and the statement it was neither

a proper note of hand, but an I.O.U.

It was a deed of partnership then, because of its imperfections, a penalty of ten pounds would have to be paid if proceedings could be based upon it.

Bob's story attached to a scrap of paper which he produced. It bore a heavy stamp and appeared to be a receipt for three hundred and twenty pounds. This man represented what he had done, but he had not got any money. He had had to leave a man whom he had known for thirty-eight years.

"I could a laid down life for 'em," said Bob, speaking of this man, "but I've got the chance of a dragnet on 'em!"

Following out his story-wit was as he explained, Bob had one day met the other, whom he knew engaged on both sides, and application was made for a private judge.

From Our Senior Chaplain
ADJUTANT PENFOLD SENDS ANOTHER CHATTY EPISTLE.

that the bonds of fellowship between Officers and Soldiers were tightened. "One touch of sorrow makes the whole world kin," the poet has written, and though the good fellowship in The Army is probably not quite so strong as it seemed, as Salvations joined its memorial services throughout the land, or our honoured dead, that the sense of comradeship was mightily quickened. There was a greater appreciation of each other's efforts, and less criticism, more genuine love of each other's brethren, and less officialism; in fact, the universal sorrow was as good cement, binding all hearts closer to one another.

Again, it might be said that the whole soul-tones of The Army in Canada were raised much higher; external things became more real; Heaven seemed nearer. And there was a general determination to gird on the armour and rush to the field, so that the work should not suffer.

"As regards the effect upon the country at large, we have every reason to believe that it was profoundly affected by the disaster. The deepest sympathy was manifested towards The Army by all classes, and messages of condolence were received from the Governor-General, the Prime Minister, Governors of Provinces, Provincial Premiers, Mayors, Editors, Clergy of all denominations, and from the heads of various societies and business corporations. On many public platforms, too, prominent citizens expressed their sympathy with The Army and enlarged its good work, and this served to bring The Army into prominence in a very striking manner, so that thousands of people who had previously taken little notice of our work had their interest aroused in a manner which could not fail to make them favourably disposed towards our Organization.

That this is so has been manifested in a variety of ways during the past year. There has been a steady increase, for instance, in our "War Cry" circulation, thus indicating that more people are anxious to keep themselves informed as to what The Army is doing. There has also been a marked feeling towards The Army on the part of those who were formerly inclined to harshly criticize, leading to the granting of facilities for our work which were before denied.

The recent Self-Denial Effort, also, has proved that the hearts of many people have been warmed towards The Army through the efforts of last year. Many were the references made it by people on whom our collectors called.

"It brought home to me very clearly," said one Toronto lady, "the greatness and nobility of The Army's Work, and my only regret is that my health is such as to prevent me becoming a worker in your ranks."

To-day we find that in spite of our heavy losses and the fears of many that our Work would not quickly recover from such a blow, that we are in a stronger position than ever as regards the number of Officers, who have joined The Salvation Army Work in Canada. All the gaps have been filled up; experienced Officers coming practically from the four corners of the earth to fill the four commands; numbers of ex-Officers being re-appointed; and a series of recruits being recently commissioned into The Field.

Thus far, now nine hundred and fifty-five Officers in the Territory, fifteen new Corps have been opened, and further extensions are contemplated, and the work of God is progressing well in all parts of the Dominion.

Every few minutes you hear the wall of the fog siren; then the ring of a ship's bell, or the chum of the propeller blade. You strain your eyes to sight of something, but nothing is visible, only a wall of dense grey fog which flows tamely into your face and shuts out from view the surrounding objects.

We are expecting the arrival of the rest of the Second Contingent, and will be very busy when they all arrive. Kindest regards, Robert Penfold.

P.S.—I am enclosing a piece of cloth picked up on the battlefield of the Marne in France.

VISTAS

Sightings on Two Weeks' Special Meetings.

During the last two weeks a number of very interesting meetings have taken place at the Toronto Temple, in connection with the Denial Effort. On Monday, May 3rd, Captain McLean and Mrs. Captain Best, assisted by Mrs. Brigadier-General, conducted the meetings, and three souls sought pardon. A musical meeting was given by the Temple Band on Tuesday evening, and on the Wednesday Corps Cadets were at the fore, and gave a very interesting programme. No little amusement was caused by a dialogue by Corps Cadets' Bassie Peckham and Ivy Harley, and at the close of the meeting ice cream and cake were served; the proceeds going towards the Corps Cadets' Target.

The Temple Songsters took charge of Thursday night's meeting, and rendered a number of selections. Sergeant Leader R. Turpin led the testing meeting, and Adjutant McDonald read the lesson. On Friday night, Captain Conrad conducted a great Holiness meeting, at which there was one conversion, and Adjutant Harley and family led the Saturday night meeting. The Adjutant delighted the audience with his laughing song, which would be well worth singing to any one in the "dumps."

Major DeBray, assisted by several of the Women's Social Officers, conducted the meetings all day on Sunday, and in the morning meeting a sister sought the blessing of a clean heart, and an impressive Altar Service was held. In the afternoon, and at night the Major spoke with power, and five souls sought pardon.

Sergeant Braden, and her class of boys, were to the front on Monday, May 10th, and gave a very interesting programme, during the course of which the famous Kazoo Band made its first appearance in public under the leadership of Lieutenant Crockett, who is the new Assistant at this Corps. The meetings throughout the remainder of the week were conducted by Adjutant and Mrs. McDonald, who were full of helpfulness and blessing, and we closed the Self-Denial Effort with a歌 for God for His goodness and blessing, and for victory.—A. Saunders, Corps Corpsian.

On Sunday night Grant was in the club, a civic welcome was also to the English croft. The Colonels trim, and his joyous spirit感染ed the audience. The band was of interest.

Sunday night was Hall was full, and I lived a most powerful address.—W. A. Captain.

for the board of a large number of orphans, of distributing daily supplies of milk for the nourishment of the small children, and of soap for the elderly ones. Three thousand four hundred pints of milk are given away every day.

Soup kitchens are in daily operation at centres like Verviers, Forbach, Querqueville, Marche-en-Famenne, and Lodelinsart. At Forbach a large field has been acquired and appropriated, out to forty families for the growing of potatoes. The land is the property of the Belgian Government, and prepared by the army, with seedlings to plant. The people do the work and reap the harvest, free from financial obligations. Other families are supplied with potatoes to plant in their own gardens.

Manitoba's New Premier
Mr. T. C. Norris is no longer the Leader of His Majesty's Loyal Opposition," as some have announced him to a Winnipeg audience on the occasion of The General's visit. The recent political change in Manitoba has brought him to the front as the new Premier.

Mr. Norris is an Ontario man by birth, Brandon being his home. He went West when a young man, and homesteaded for some years. Later he became an engineer. In 1896 he was elected to the Provincial Legislature for Lansdowne, and in 1910 became Leader of the Opposition. His long residence in the West has

It has been recognized in England, however, that this tide of emigration should be directed, and hence the necessity of organizing at once instead of waiting until the time arrives. A committee has been formed, the chairman of which Earl Grey is the chairman, and Commissioner Lammer, the members, to consider the various schemes that have been proposed as solutions to this great problem.

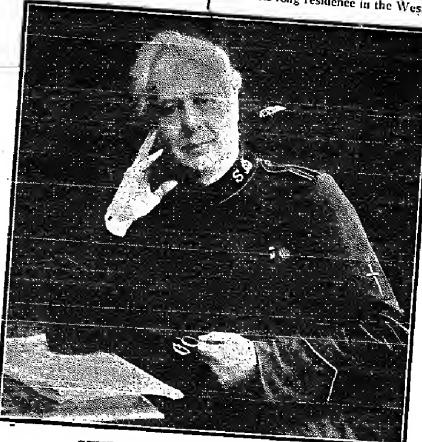

The part to be played by The Salvation Army will depend on that of working in conjunction with the Imperial Committee. The Colony is endeavouring to get the various Provincial Governments interested in the project, as well as the Ottawa Government.

Ensign Tutte

Ensign Henry Charles Tutte, who has just been promoted to that rank, has been an Officer for eight years. He is the son of Staff-Captain Tutte, of England. It was in Saskatchewan that he resolved to devote his life to Army Officership. After a Session in the Training College he became a Cadet Surgeon, and on being commissioned Captain, was sent in charge of Merrisburgh, Ontario. In November, 1910, he was appointed to financial work.

In November, 1910, he married Miss Willey. They went to Vancouver, and in the spring of 1912 took charge of Prince Rupert Corps. The following year they were appointed to Lethbridge, and after a very successful term of command work done by The Army in caring for convalescent Belgian soldiers, and more especially the progressive spirit of the prairies. In a recent interview he expressed his ideal of government as follows: "The first essential of public administration is honesty. If ever the people choose me to direct their administration I shall place honesty first."

The opportunity has now come. For the Salvation Army he has a warm regard, and has on several occasions manifested this by his presence at public gatherings, and his outspoken praise of our work.

Ensign Tutte

Looking Ahead
 Colonel Hammond, who is now in Ceylon, is, among other things, engaged in making enquiries as to what can be done for ex-soldiers when they return from the war. He believes that thousands of young men, now fighting in France, will be unwilling to return to sedentary occupations after the war, and will strike out for a free, open-air life. The British Dominions will be the richer for this influx of disciplined men, in the bloom of health and strength.

A DRUMHEAD SERVICE

MEMORIAL Service for Canadians fallen in the field was held at the Belleville Band and Songsters on Saturday evening, May 2nd. The Band played the Dead March in Saul, and the Songsters rendered "Prepare for Eternity," with good effect. There was a large attendance, and many hearts were stirred. Captain Ruston, on Sunday, May 3rd, was again requested to conduct a Drumhead Service at the Picton Camp, and readily consented. The Band marched up the hill and rendered a number of selections which were greatly appreciated by the soldiers, whilst Lieutenant Foster soloed and the Captain gave a Bible address.

The Hamilton III. Band is still battling on. Three Bandsmen have been welcomed into our midst of late, namely Brother Geo. Skinner, from St. Catharines; Brother H. Melbourne, from London, and Brother W. Burce. We are now in fine trim for the coming summer's work.

In memory of those who lost their lives in the Lusitania disaster, the Regina Band gathered in the Victoria Park on Sunday morning, May 6th, after the usual services, and played the Dead March in Saul. The military men, after attending service at Knox Presbyterian Church, lined Lorrie Street, until the band had moved down towards Lumsden. The Band played the Dead March in Saul, while the large congregation stood, deeply moved and in silence listened to the music.

The comrades of the Montreal II. Band ask if any Band in the Territory can be found, consisting of men from the same ship. We were given a target of ninety-eight dollars for our Self-Denial, and have smashed this and raised one hundred and ninety dollars. The Band went out scrutinizing twice, and then five of the Band went out together playing, whilst four did collecting on three evenings, and were richly rewarded.

Prayer Topics

1. Pray for the comforting of all who are sorely bereaved through this terrible war.
2. Pray that truth and justice may speedily triumph, that a real peace may be brought in.
3. Pray that God may keep the hearts of His people from emotions of fear and anxiety.
4. Pray for all who so bravely are giving their lives for the Empire and liberty.
5. And for the dear women who, perhaps, bear the heavier burden of Empire.

BAND NOTES

This was done after the men had put in a good day's work, and some of them did without their supper in order to help on the work. Besides this, they were present at every meeting at which the Band was usually present. As we have a Band of sixteen and two Band recruits, the above results are very creditable.

We have suffered a good deal recently, owing to a number of our Bandmen leaving, and getting transferred to other Corps; but we are still going on to victory and the Salvation of souls.—D. Purbrick.

Nearly every Sunday since the arrival of the military, the Guelph Band has had the honour of playing the boys to church. They now have a properly-organized band of their own, and therefore our services are no longer needed. On Sunday, May 2nd, we visited the hospital, and played and sang for the benefit of the patients there. Brigadier Ady was in charge and he, in the afternoon, gave a good address in the Citadel on "The Army's Part in the War." At night, we performed for the wounded down in Lumsden. The Band played the Dead March in Saul, while the large congregation stood, deeply moved and in silence listened to the music.

The Weyburn Band, one of the most recently organized, is making very good headway, and the bands-

Adjutant Horwood and Ensign Richards were present, and also took part. In our Hall the meetings were led by Captain Pearce. The Songsters took a prominent part, and the concert was a success.

A banquet and entertainment was given to the returning members of the Guelph Band on Wednesday evening, May 1st. Baudmuster Baldwin, as previously reported, is leaving as Bandmaster of the 3rd Battalion Band, and the Deputy

The Praying League

Thoughts On Prayer

(By Mrs. Anna Johnston)
A sister in the Far West sends us the following very interesting letter on prayer:

"Dear Comrade—I thought a little of my experience in reference to answera to prayer might be interesting,

"I am glad to say I belong to the Praying League, besides having been in the Army for years. My definition of prayer is talking to our beautiful Christ, all the time. With me it is an almost hourly conversation with Him. There is nothing so small that I do not lay before Him, and do you know, dear comrade, I can almost feel the presence of the Lord Jesus."

"I cannot do much here, but I pray and I plead daily with God for myself and for this place—in bitter tears, and the more I do the more I grow to love Him. I do not know how people calling themselves Christians can go on as they do. To my mind a full jug must overflow sometimes. If men and women can do or say nothing for God, they are not His children. We must either go on back."

"I pray much for dear blind comrade. What will it not mean to her when she sees the King in His beauty? It is almost worth being blind to open our eyes first on Him.

Here it is all amusement in winter time—dancing, swearing, drinking, when it can be had. And it needs but a constant communion to keep free from the snares of Satan. The nearer I get to my Lord the more the Devil kicks. I tell the Master and my Father in Heaven to let me find out, and I get the answer sure. There was a valuable document lost

IMPORTANT APPOINTMENT

NEW TERRITORIAL COM- MENDER FOR CEYLON.

last week's announcement of the new changes on the British Field Force followed by information of the new General Officer Commanding which will have his headquarters at Colombo. Major Mary Tait, one of the Assistant Field Secretaries, has received marching orders. The General Officer Commanding, General Sir Alexander Simons, has appointed the Colonel of the 1st Battalion Royal Welsh Fusiliers to take up his appointment. The Colonel's successor has yet announced.

Colonel Measures, who has for six years been in command, in Colombo, will be returning, with Mrs. Measures, to England for the recuperation of his health, before taking up his next appointment.

The procession then arrived and the men on to conduct the funeral ceremonies in grand style. I tried to make these as impressive as possible—some noticed at the graveside were wiping the tears from their eyes. I met the young man in question on the following night, and, on seeing me, he ran up, and, with joyful face, exclaimed: "I'm a different man to-night! I went home to my tent from the funeral, sought the mien and favour of God, and gave myself to him, and now I feel just all right!"

"I urged him to let his light shine, and let all in his tent know that I had made the decision; and I have since learned that, before retiring for the night, he took out his New Testament, and said to the tentful of bandmen: 'Well, chaps, I'm going to be a different man to what I've been, and I'm now going to read a chapter out of the Bible to you; does any of you want to listen?' There was silence for the space of ten minutes, and then the bandmaster said: 'If nobody else wants to listen to you, then I do; read on, and everybody else can hear, too; it will do none of us any harm.'"

"While I was waiting at a bridge in old Cairo," says Brigadier McKenzie, Salvation Army Chaplain with the Australian Forces, "I held a funeral to come up, the band and firing party of the 9th Battalion stood near a hand, I entered into conversation with several of the men, and ultimately a young man came up to me out of the band, and, saluting, he a different man to what I've been, and I'm now going to read a chapter out of the Bible to you; does any of you want to listen?" ### STRANDED IN LONDON

EXTENSION OF WORK FOR SOLDIERS AT WATERLOO STATION.

Salvation Army Buildings to Be Open Every Night.

It will be good news to many Service men that the Salvation Army's Rest Rooms for stranded soldiers at Waterloo Station will in future be open every night.

During a recent weekend some thousand men were provided with sleeping accommodation, refreshments, both at night and in the morning, and a wash and brush-up before catching their trains—all free of charge. And although this number were still hundreds who were either walking the street all night or sleeping in the station.

"The other night," says Brigadier Greenwood, who is in charge of this work, "in spite of the fact that a hundred men were sleeping in rooms over sixty were lying on the cold station platform, many in their shirt sleeves, having taken off their tunics to make themselves pillows.

"The men are very grateful for what we do for them, and many warmly expressed their thanks. One man said, 'We find the Army everywhere, and all the time it's "what can we do to help you, my boy?"'

Among the crowd one night was a Canadian sergeant who, on learning who the Brigadier was, introduced himself as "Daddy Goode." Salvation Soldier under him at Stirling Camp eight years ago is still a Salvationist.

Adjutant Gresley and Scout Leader James, of Westminster, have been appointed to help the Brigadier.

A useful work is also being done, although not on such a large scale, as Victoria, where during the week-end over sixty men were fed and sheltered.

AFTERMATH OF WAR

TEACHING FORTY-YEAR-OLD MEN TO WALK.

Lost Their Sight at Battle's Front.

Adjutant Lucy Lee, writing to Paris, said: "While visiting the eye hospital I was struck by the number of men—quite fortysome—learning to walk again after having lost both their eyes, heads having many other wounds. They were being trained in the yard at the back of the hospital —I could not keep back the tears as I watched this pathetic sight and tried to give a helping hand. One day a soldier told me he had forty wounds and had lost his two eyes and his right hand."

"Last week I visited the floor for wounded officers. They gave me such a welcome and accepted the gifts and listened attentively to my usual few minutes' talk before I left.

"Now the warmer weather is here I shall not need body-belts, mittens, or cuffs, but the men continually ask for handkerchiefs and towels."

No man ought to forget that if he grows wild ears, he will have to reap the same kind of crop.

WAR CRY THE COMMISSIONER AT KINGSTON

Printed for The Salvation Army in Canada, Newfoundland, British Columbia, and Alaska, by The Standard Paper & Printery House, 15 Albert St., Toronto.

Mother's Day

The purposes of Mother's Day are practical, in character and poetic in expression. "The White Flower of a blameless life" is a charming symbol of filial affection, and we hope that the custom of presenting to mothers a white flower on Mother's Day will extensively prevail and bear much fruit.

Due consideration for parents on the part of children has ever been regarded as a duty of prime importance. Under the Levitical Law if a man had a stubborn and rebellious son who would not "obey the voice of his father, or, the voice of his mother, and who, when they had chastised him, would not hearken unto them," he had to be brought before the elders of the city, who caused him to be stoned to death. The spirit of the New Dispensation is shown by the following words of the Apostle Paul:—

"Children, obey your parents in the Lord, for this is right. Honour thy father and thy mother: which is the first commandment with promise; that it may be well with thee, and that thou mayest live long on earth."

A promise which has been kept, inviolate down the ringing grooves of change.

We are not so sure, however, that with the changes which have come about in social life, respect and affectionate consideration for parents is as pronounced as it should be amongst young people of to-day, and we shall the widespread reminder of the duty of children to parents that this Mother's Day will bring about Patriotism, Empire, labour and other aspects of national life are brought before young minds by days set apart for their celebration, and we think that, rightly managed, Mother's Day could be made a great stimulus to the practice of that virtue inculcated both in the Decalogue and Beatitudes.

The object of The Salvation Army in brief is to foster in the heart of children a sense of gratitude to mother for what she has done for them, and for what she continues to do, and to give expression to that feeling by presenting to mother a white flower. Another aspect is the recognition in a public way of the mothers, who, by their devotion to children and home, are too often overlooked. Laudable objects, both. We ask our readers to pray that the effort may be made a great blessing.

On another page we print some extracts from an address by Mrs. Booth, in which she advises some most valuable advice to mothers in the direction of instilling a love for home and parents on the part of children. We commend its perusal to all mothers.

A Civic Reception—Veterans' Association Attend the Meeting—Commissioner Elected Honorary Chaplain—Forty-Nine Seekers at Night

THIS COMMISSIONER, accompanied by the Chief Secretary, Colonel Gaskin, with Lieut-Colonel Turner, and Brigadier Morris, opened his Campaign in the Quebec and East Ontario Division at Kingston on Saturday. A great crowd of Salvationists and friends of The Army were on hand at the depot to welcome the Commissioner, on his arrival, including His Worship Mayor Sutherland, Messrs. Graham, Newman, Gillespie, and Litton—all members of Kingston's City Council, Brigadier Rawling, with Ensign and Mrs. Smith, were on hand also.

A procession was formed, headed by the Senior Band, followed by motor cars conveying His Worship the Mayor, Mr. Shand, the Commandant and Chief Secretary, and others. Then came the Boy Scout Band of our King's Corps, dressed in neat uniforms, with slouch hats—one side being pinned back with a Bandsman's Crest. This was the boys' first appearance in public—but this would never have been imagined, so well did they play. They have only been practising seven weeks. The Commissioner was delighted with their appearance and playing, and His Worship the Mayor was also highly pleased with their deportment.

On the steps of the Citadel His Worship Mayor Sutherland addressed the Commissioner in the presence of a large crowd as follows:—"Some days ago it was my privilege on behalf of the citizens to say farewell to a number of soldiers who were leaving us to take part in the defense of the Empire and humanity against the Hun. I am honoured to have you here to-day, and I wish to thank you, Sir, to convey to your General this expression of our gratitude to him and The Army for their work in the present great war, and with the hope that you will consent to allow us to add your name to our roll."

The Commissioner replied, accepting with pleasure the aforementioned office, promising to convey to General Booth their expression of gratitude as heretofore received. The occasion was over. The Commissioner spoke to the children in the Sunday morning service. Then followed a personal appeal, by the Commissioner, to all present, to abandon self- and selfish-interests completely and live henceforth to know and do God's will. At two o'clock Sunday afternoon the Commissioner spoke to the children in the Company Meeting.

About seven hundred people gathered at the Citadel on Sunday afternoon, to accord a Civil Welcome to the Commissioner. His Worship Mayor Sutherland was in the chair, supported by a galaxy of prominent ladies, and gentlemen. The Chief Secretary conducted the first portion of the meeting, calling on the Divisional Commander to introduce the Chairman. His Worship outlined his very intelligent and comprehensive Divisional interests, and the first speaker, somewhat tardily, delivered his speech, associated with the formation of The Salvation Army, telling of the various kinds of from the Band, he rose to speak. The Commissioner was early in the trenches Sunday morning. The first engagement for the day took place at nine-thirty in the morning, when the Commissioner met the Shand, and led the band to get in a singing in the corridors at the rear of the Chief Secretary's part of the service. The Commissioner's meeting, forty-nine at the Mercy Seat Halliburton. The leaves of Alonso.

THIS IS OUR WAR. Love is the spirit and soul of it. Love—the longer I live, the more I see that the Gospel of Jesus Christ is not much spread by anything else.

Bibles can only go so far, and that not very far, without this. Money, and music—no matter how beautiful—and meetings and uniform and the multiplied agencies of a great and useful

Organization, do not amount to very much without this. Talk, even when it reaches the heights of eloquence, where men pour out the purest emotions in streams of beautiful thoughts and burning words, is just as powerless, without Love, to spread our Gospel as the sound of tinkling cymbals. Love is the great spreading power. Love that serves—love that goes to the bottom—love, for which nothing is too low, or too weak, or too repulsive, or too near the dark night of despair.

If it were not so, what an unending night of death and hell the future would be for those who believe in the soul of man and the government of God. What a sordid thing human itself would become for us who believe in both! What a welter of shame and slime time would be, and a bower of perpetual sin against God and perpetual suffering for it would terribly appear!

No, thank God, we have a better outlook than that. The promise of the Father is—Victory for His Son.

In the end the Lamb will appear with thousands of His saints to put an end to the wickedness of the wicked.

BY "NECHO"

Necho hears that a certain little Corps has raised $40 above its Target. Is that the top-notch? who has longest will see the most and hear most, too? Yes; there will be quite a lot of seeing and hearing at the Intercession Hall, Yonge Street.

I understand the Commissioner was there the other day arranging for the pietistic tableau, etc. His fear for the Self-Denial results, etc. His Editor, until after the results are proclaimed.

I know a few other things about the Self-Denial results, but am not allowed to talk or write either. Mr. Editor, until after the results are proclaimed.

In roaming around in Stratford, I noticed that a very muchalive Serviceman must be in charge of the Young People's Work there, for the following statement was in a prominent place at the entrance of the Hall:—

There is an old adage, Mr. Editor, that "it never rains but it pours." I have heard it somewhere. Is it a Canadian expression? You, Sir, who possess the very fount of wisdom, might let me know. [No peculiar to Canada; whereas the English language is spoken, that adage is used.—Ed.] However, this has to do with increases. Seeing that a gentle reader fell in the last paragraph, I might as well rain upon you the statement that I promised a week or two since:

Many Corps Report Smashed Targets A Smash in the Devil's Ranks

A HARD STRUGGLE

The meetings at Montreal I. for the week-end of May 9th, were conducted by Staff-Captain Goodman and Ensign Maisey. On the Altar Service was held on the Sunday evening, the gifts being raised $100. At this service, the two farewell, Brigadier Green and J. Belton, with Brother Martin and other comrades of the Second Contingent, for the front. Our prayers go with these comrades. Brigadier McMillan gave the Bible lesson, and there were several surrenders. One soldier of the Second Contingent was deeply convicted, but did not yield. He left the Hall, and at nearly midnight found his way to the Officers' Quarters, where, after many tears and prayers, he was converted.—H. C. P.

GOOD MEETINGS

On Sunday, May 9th, well-attended Self-Denial Services were held in the St. John I. Citadel. The Soldiers greatly appreciated the inspiring address given by Ensign Clarke of the Rescue Home. The Officers' Quarters, which contained the morning service, A night of earnest appeals was made by Lieutenant McLeish, who has been doing very valuable work here, but is about to leave for a new appointment, after which Mrs. Captain Ham gave an appropriate talk. The results of the Altar Service exceeded our expectations, the total personal gifts amounting to eighty dollars.—T. B. L.

VISITED THE CAMPS

Captain Freeman and Lieutenant Smith have arrived at Fenceton, and were accorded aousing welcome by the Soldiers. They arrived just in time to launch the Self-Denial Effort, and the Captain, accompanied by a sister, visited the lumber camps, where they did well. The Lieutenant worked hard during the absence of the Captain, and, at the head of the Soldiers, bombarded the town nearly every night of the week. An Altar Service was held on April 10th, at which all the Soldiers were hands in a ring and consecrated their lives afresh to God's service.—P. S.

DAY OF VICTORY

Self-Denial Sunday, May 9th, will be remembered by the Aurora comrades as a day of victory. The Rev. Mr. Hether and Ms. Stoth addressed the meeting. At night Mrs. Captain Kinston took the lesson, and an Altar Service was held. "Fifty dollars was realized, and we are rejoicing over the smashing of our target. The Juniors deserve special mention for their good work in raising the sum of one hundred and forty-nine dollars.

THE "BABY" LEADS

Captain Johnson visited Guelph on the weekend of May 9th, and rendered valuable assistance. Her corner solos were very much appreciated, and at the close of the night's meeting, a gentleman kindly donated money for song books. This fine "Baby" Corps of the Alberta Division, but we were the first to smash our Self-Denial Target.—P. S.

GAVE LIFE STORY

On his return journey to Toronto Envoy Hancock stayed off at Uxbridge, where he gave his life story, which at Pendleton Falls, which was enjoyed by the comrades. Captain Johnson and Lieutenant Green are doing well in their new command.

FIVE SURRENDER

Captain Delamont, who has been assigned Captain Stride at Wayburn, for the last eight months, farewelled on Friday, May 7th. On the Saturday, the Band marched down to the station to give her a good send-off to her new appointment, Saskatoon, and on the Sunday we finished out with Self-Denial with an Altar Service. Two gents also, who had been serving, came to us, and we closed up. The three Juniors and two young-ups at the Pentent [sic] Form Lieutenant Sampson has been welcomed into our midst; most Deder, and we are looking forward to a good summer's work.—C. H. P.

ADVANCING

We are pleased to report that the work of "Turn" is on the up-grade. Captain Miller and Misses Brigadier and Mrs. Miller led "Song and Pioneer Days" was taken as the Brigadier's subject on the Saturday evening, when a very pleasant time was spent. Mrs. Miller spoke at the Sunday morning meeting, and in the afternoon the Brigadier spoke on "The Army Under Two Flags." Mrs. Miller led on at night, taking for her subject "The Dying Thief," and as an outcome of her efforts a fascinating sermon.—He is now standing firm and doing active service at the Corps. A witness.

HEARTY WELCOME

The residents of Coleman, Alta., are delighted that the Army has opened fire, and although circumstances are rather hard at the present because of unemployment, it is a great work ahead of the newly-appointed Officers: Captain in Action and Lieutenant H. M. Morris. The people are warm-hearted and the meetings of Saturday, May 9th, were most interesting, inspiring us of victory in the future. Major and Mrs. Hay visited the town on Sunday, May 9th, and a profitable time was spent.—T. H. M.

TEMPERANCE MEETING

A special temperance meeting was held at Belleville on Sunday, May 9th, at which many local temperance workers spoke. The Rev. Mr. Hether and Ms. Stoth addressed the meeting. At night Mrs. Captain Kinston took the lesson, and an Altar Service was held. "Fifty dollars was realized, and we are rejoicing over the smashing of our target. The Juniors deserve special mention for their good work in raising the sum of one hundred and forty-nine dollars.

ANOTHER VICTORY

The work at Sherbrooke is making steady progress, under the leadership of Captain and Mrs. Parsons.

Our Self-Denial Target of two hundred and twenty-five dollars has been smashed.

Everybody worked with a will, which resulted in a smashing victory, set to conquer. On Sunday, May 9th, we had our Altar Service, which was very impressive, and brought in a goodly sum, whilst three souls surrendered. Captains Bruce and Holmstrom, who are doing special work in this district, very ably assisted the Officers in command.

THE STORY OF A YOUNG COUNTRY GIRL'S ADVENTURE IN A BIG CITY

CHAPTER II.

GEORGE GETS A SURPRISE

IT was early morning on the McPherson farm. The cows had just been milked, and were being turned out to pasture by one of the girls, Tom Cartwright, a hired man, who, loading the heavy milk cans into the delivery preparation, was taking them to the cheese factory. Rosie, carrying several milk pails, was leisurely proceeding towards the house, when she was overtaken by her sister Annie, who was similarly laden.

"Whatever were you and pa having words about last night?" said Annie. "We could hear you going to bed."

"Oh, pa's got some ridiculous notion in his head, that I don't do enough for my living," said Rosie with a forced laugh; "so I've got to go raking hay in the far meadow today."

"My gracious! has he forgotten all about your music lesson?" said Annie. "This is the day Mr. Forest comes, you know, and you can't afford to miss his instruction, because the examination is coming off next month."

"I guess I'll have to be content to play a tune on the hay rack, and sing out, 'Gee, Dolly, bar bar, Dolly, diddap' till I'm as horse as an old crow!" And Rosie laughed merrily at the thought of it.

"Land sakes! that'll never do," said Annie. "We must have one musical member in the family to be proud of. See here, Rosie, don't you go and do any more raking today. Let me see! Tom if he's in still more hurry."

"The Lord Tom has other and more important duties to perform my dear; so I, a mere farmer's daughter, must perform the menial drudgery."

"Oh, shucks! what book did you read that rubbish-in? If I was you Rosie, I'd just up and tell pa that my music lesson was more important than his old hay, and if he wanted to do it quickly, let him do it himself. The girls will just have to combine to keep pa in his proper place, or he'll have the whole lot of us working as if we were just hired girls, and there's need for it at all. He's quite well off now and we can take it a bit easy, like most of the young folks do around here."

"Well, I guess pa knows that all right," said Rosie. "But his general mind last night over something I said about country life being dull, so he's got an idea he'll make things a bit more lively for me. He'll soon get over it, though."

"Well, I should just think so. But I've got an idea, too, Rosie McPherson, and it's this: You're not going into no hayfield to-day. You're going to take that music lesson, and if you can't get out of it, just bay, bink, and do it myself."

And in the end Annie had her way. She talked her mother into hiding with her first; after that, the surrender of pa was a foregone conclusion.

Rosie accepted the little self-sacrifice of her generous sister as quite the usual thing. She was accustomed to others putting themselves out in order to please, and this morning she rather congratulated herself on having got out of an awkward situation so easily.

"Annie, a good little thing," she mused. "Just the sort to make an ideal farmer's wife like pa says I should be. But not for mine, thank you. I've got other plans laid, and pa shan't force me into marrying George if I don't want to. So there! Tra-la-la-la-la-la."

And she ran her fingers lightly up and down the keys—a good many times, if to release her feelings.

The day passed. Annie worked steadily all the forenoon in the hay-field, and after dinner went back again; not finishing the task till about half-past four.

"Annie, dear, you're a real brick," said Rosie, giving her sister a kiss as she came into the house hot, tired, and dusty from her hard day's work.

"I'll do you share of the mending to-night," said Rosie, "I'll go down to the office, too, and get the mail. I'm sure you must be allagged out."

"Never mind, Rosie dear, so long as you didn't miss your lesson," replied Annie.

"And Mrs. McPherson, who was watching the evening meal, smiled approvingly at the demonstration of affection between the two sisters.

After supper that evening Rosie sauntered down to the post-office, which was situated in a little roadside-store about half a mile from the McPherson's farm.

"Any mail for us?" she asked the girl.

"Yes, Miss McPherson, here's several letters and a paper or two."

Rosie hastily glanced through the little bundle of mail handed to her. Yes, one letter was for her, and it had the Toronto postmark on it.

"Oh, good!" she exclaimed, "another letter from Elsie Moore. I do so enjoy her letters—they're like messages from another world to me. How I do wish I could get away from this beautiful country life."

Elsie Moore had written a long, animated description of the gaities

she was having, and a good time was having in the city.

She opened the letter and read it as she slowly walked homewards. It was along the usual lines—an animated description of the gaities

she was having, and a good time was having in the city.

The letter concluded, "Nothing to go but Sunday School picnics or visits to the old women gossiping to-night. I'll go down to the office, too, and get the mail. I'm sure you must be allagged out."

"Never mind, Rosie dear, so long as you didn't miss your lesson," replied Annie.

Bro. Holden (Sen.) of Winnipeg V.

Death has taken from our midst an old and dear friend—the person of Brother Holden (Senior), Father of Brothers Joseph and Fred and Bro. Holden of this Corps. Although not on the Soldiers' Roll, our late comrade was much interested in our work.

Distance and age, to a great extent, prevented him from attending our meetings as often as he desired, but whenever he found it at all possible he attended the Corps. The funeral was conducted by Ensign Mustard, the Chaplain, who received from our late Bro. Holden's testimony.

At the memorial service, on Sunday, May 12th, Sergeant-Major Wannacott spoke of the good influence of our late comrade, who, when he was even on his sickbed in the hospital, was the means of influencing a backslider to return to God.

Bro. Holden's son, Bro. Holden, spoke of the encouragement and cheer Brother Holden had given by entertaining the Bandmen at his home on several occasions. Our prayers and sympathies go out to Sister Mrs. Holden and Brothers Joseph and Richard in the sorrow they have sustained.—A. G.

FATHER'S SERVICE

On Saturday evening, May 8th, two splendid open-air services were conducted by Major and Mrs. Coombs, at Somersett (Bermuda), to which a great crowd assembled. Mrs. Coombs was also with us on Sunday, and we had a very enjoyable time.

The Corps here is getting on splendidly under the leadership of Captain Kinnaird and Lieutenant Captain. Both deserve great credit for the interest they take in the Corps, and in the Junior work, which is rapidly advancing. Credit is also due to Young People's Sergeant-Major Milton, who, for nearly twelve years has held this commission, and worked faithfully.—J. T. Spanswick.

BRITAIN'S LOSS IN SHIPS

Up to the middle of May the total number of ships, not including whalers destroyed by the enemy, is 201, and the cost of life, £556.

The ships lost include passenger ships, merchant vessels, steam trawlers, and drifters, and consist of about two and a half per cent. of British shipping.

to Christ by persevering prayer.

Here, too, I could give examples of mothers showing the precious efficacy of many simple prayers. Never forget that all the prayers answered by Heaven it is the mothers' that mothers' are answered first. Turn them to Jesus separately in prayer, as my mother prayed for me, by name, by disposition, by weakness, by gifts, by age—praying that we should each be gathered into the arms of Jesus.

And while you pray, believe. Oh, how the Bible glorifies promises to parents concerning their children, and could there be anything more conducive to faith—faith demanding, faith all-conquering, faith blind to every form, faith asking the highest, greatest, and best—that a mother will find for her children? This love will find the promises of God the surest of grounds.

Then you must always bring your children to Christ.

By Example.

Example is more powerful than precept; "actions speak louder than words." Somebody once said, "I cannot hear what you say, because of the noise of what you do." And then you know that at the back of all our actions is the being. We must be right, and do, to do well.

If you have a right spirit, filled with His Spirit, you will not only be bringing your children to Jesus, but you will be bringing Jesus to your children, and as they grow in years it shall be with them as it was with Moses, who, "when he was come to years, refused" the world and chose the Kingdom of God.

And, in closing, let us never overlook the fact—which will stand out as one of history's greatest—that when we come to a baby, and was among us a child. Have you ever thought?

He could have thrust upon humanity's vision in the fullness of His perfect manhood, but He chose the insignificant crib of infancy, and the lowly nest of youth. Thus, He forever consecrated childhood and forever consecrated all motherhood, and made us to feel that God should be the gateway through which the great God shall come into infancy and childhood, and the gateway through which the lambs shall pass into the fold of the tender Shepherd.

Christ's birth and early years make us to think that if there is one above whom God intended should be more divine than the rest of creation,

It Must Be a Mother.

Oh, by the ten thousand prayers over my cradle, by the memories of my own blessed and sainted mother, by the consolation in troubles, the solace in temptation and the sustenance in sacrifice that has come to me through her influence—by the promises of God, and the pleadings with you who hear that special name, live, not beneath its divine privileges, but use your unequalled, Heaven-given influence for his highest and best purpose and bring the children to Jesus!

NOTES AND REFLECTIONS

Do we say, "I am loved of God, unworthy though I be, poor though I am; yet, though I am lean and weak in the great qualities of His Nature, When I forget Him, He does not forget me. When I give back to Him so little, Oh, so very little, His great ocean of pity and love goes out pouring its riches into my poor life,

I have been bad, ungrateful; my heart was, ab, so wicked, desperately wicked. I was, alas! a transgressor in a multitude of ways and an unprofitable servant even at the best, and yet my God does not overlook me or my needs—He surrounds us with His mercy—He holds me in the hollow of His hand, and will hold me there so long as love can do me good."

How few people there are, after all, who really act as though they knew God loves them and wants to use them to spread that love to others! Even for us who can say, we are His by faith, and who know we love God, there is something more important still—a thousand times more important—God loves us.

He gave Himself for us. Behind the changing circumstances of life and the cold, irresponsive conditions to which many of us seem bound by invisible chains, there is the World of Love prepared, and prepared for us—the World of Light and Rest—the Peace and Joy unspeakable—the Kingdom of God.

Oh, believe it! Believe it all, and, believing, you shall be strong for the great campaign against unbelief and selfishness around us. I said our War is war against selfishness, No weapon is of much use in that conflict but Love. Love and Faith—Love from God, Faith in God, Love towards man, and Faith for man. Love and Faith—these are our high explosives, our great engines for the conquest of souls and for the destruction of that great enemy of righteousness—Sin.

ARMY SONGS

WHITER THAN SNOW
Tune.—Whiter than snow, B.B., 292.
Tell me what to do to be pure
In the sight of All-seeing eyes!
Tell me, is there no thorough cure,
No escape from sin's despair?
Tell me I never shall be free
From terrible bondage within;
Is there no deliverance for me?
Must I always struggle with sin?

Chorus
Oh, whiter than the snow, etc.

Will my Saviour only pass by,
Only to show me how faintly I've been?
Will He not attend to my cry?
Can this moment be clean?
Blessed Lord, Almighty to heal,
Know that Thy power cannot fail;
Here and now I know—yes, I feel,
The prayer of my heart does prevail.

COME, GREAT SPIRIT
Tunes.—I am coming to the Cross,
81; I'm believing, 82; S. B., 483.
Come, Thou burning Spirit, come!
Lo, we stretch our hands to Thee!
From the Father and the Son
Let us now Thy glory see.

Chorus
Come, oh, come, Great Spirit, come.
On the altar now we lay
Soul and body, mind and will!
All the evil passions slay,
Come and every corner fill.

Now by faith I claim
Bought for me by Blood Divine,
Through the all-prevailing Name
All the promises are mine.

WHY NOT TO-NIGHT?
Tunes.—Why not to-night? B.J., 131; S.M. I., 226.
Oh, do not let the word depart,
Or close thy eyes against the night;
Poor sinner, harden not thy heart,
Thou shouldst be saved—why not to-night?

To-morrow's sun may never rise
To bless thy long-deluded sight;
This is the time—oh, be wise!
Thou won't be saved—why not to-night?

Our blessed Lord refuses none
Who would to Him their souls
Then be the work of grace begun;
Thou wouldn't be saved—why not to-night?

THE SINNER'S FRIEND
Tune.—No other argument, B.J., 7.
Jesus, the name high over all,
In hell, or earth, or sky;
Angels and men before Him fall,
And devils fear and fly.

Jesus, the name to sinners dear,
The name to sinners given;
He scatters all their guilty fears,
He turns their hell to Heaven.

Oh, that the world might taste and see!
The riches of His grace!

The arms of God that compass me
Would mankind embrace!

MORE LIKE THEE!
Tune.—Ye banks and braces,
Dear Lord, I realize Thy power
To guide me safely through this life
And may I trust? Thy promise sure,
To be with me in every strife
Of life's dark shadows and dangers,
For with me is there no earth beside!

Who can be with me even day
To cheer my heart, while I'm betide?

O Saviour, Who didst die for me,
Who cleanseth me from every sin,
I do so long to be like Thee,
Confessing that all is right within,
Give me the grace to persevere,
And make my life a blessing, Lord,
That to the world I may These show,
And ever strive to preach Thy word.

LORD, SEND SOULS!
Tunes.—Cleansing for me, 310; Song Book, 21.

Lord, for a mighty Revival we plead,
Lord, give us souls!
Thy saving power to this meeting we need,

Lord, give us souls!
Quicken our hearts, by the Holy Ghost's power,
Pour out Thy Spirit, a great, mighty shower,
Of sin the sinner convict, Lord, this hour,
Lord, give us souls!

Lord, we believe! Thou art going to save,

Floods of Salvation and power we shall have—

Lord, we believe! Souls shall be truly converted to Thee,

From all the bondage of Satan be free;

Made into Soldiers to fight well for Thee,
Lord, we believe!

THE ROSE AGAIN!

He rose again! Oh, what a glorious themel!

Burst from His bonds, defying even the grave;

He Who didst die, poor sinner to redeem,

He rose again, their dying souls anxiously wanted
